WELCOME WEEK

E-Learning Program Transition

Transitions in teaching are important because student learning depends upon them. In other words, efficient transitions increase time for learning.

Our E-learning programs will start with a packet of daily activities that children must complete during their day.

The packet will also include a schedule with a study routine, and everyday children will meet via ZOOM sessions of 45min+ with their teachers to see how they are progressing with their routines.

As we get farther into the program, zoom session hours may increase. And the difficulty in the activities will also increase.

Parents will get a schedule every week with the times and meeting Id's, so they can connect. Extra materials needed during zoom sessions will also be sent home on a weekly basis, so parents can have time to get things ready. Please have your child help you get the materials needed.

The idea of our program is to not only make sure our children are academically ready to pass all of their exams, but also teach them a new language, teach them how to be independent, how to organize their days, how to follow a routine, to be creative in order to solve challenges and how to be responsible with their school work, all skills that will be beneficial and essential in their future.

Children will always count with the support of their teachers and will receive feedback and awards when turning in their school work, completing assignments and more.

It is important to understand that our virtual programs may change during the school year, as all children are different and we adapt our programs into the necessities of the virtual classroom.

HOME LEARNING SPACE SET UP

A dedicated home learning space can help develop your child's creativity, sharpen their focus, and increase their motivation to read and learn. Without a specific learning spot, young learners can be easily distracted, they don't have supplies they need nearby, and there's no sense of consistency. The family couch, then, as comfortable and easy as it seems, may not be the right option for young children needing to learn about routines, early education, and self-regulation.

With a proper home learning environment, children will:

- See education as a priority in the home, meaning it sets a positive example
- Learn to investigate the world, knowing that learning is everywhere
- Have choices for reading and learning just for fun
- Set routines that support independent learning time and family planning

CREATING YOUR HOME EDUCATION SPACE

It is important to make the prepared environment comfortable enough for children to enjoy their learning experience.

The key is to create a specific routine and spot for your child's learning. At the end of the day, it is most important to show your child that you value learning enough to give it a consistent space in your home.

In simplicity, the brain enjoys being visually stimulated, when you create a learning space in your home, look for ways to create inspiring, creative, and visual places for a child's mind to focus.

HOME LEARNING SPACE IDEAS

REMEMBER THAT THIS SPACE SHOULD BE USED ONLY FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES

VIRTUAL ASSESSMENTS

SCHOOL YEAR 2020-2021

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF ASSESSMENTS?

- The purpose of Assessment is to provide teachers with information that can be used to guide instructional activities to promote children’s development of important readiness skills.
- Assessments provides teachers with a user friendly set of tools to help identify the skill levels of the children in their programs, and to track the development of skills across the year. The Assessment focuses on skills that are clear predictors of later school success and that have instructional value.

HOW CAN ASSESSMENTS HELP TEACHERS?

- The use of this assessment may help teachers better understand the developmental continuum of literacy, language, and math skills and the critical role they play in helping promote skill development and school readiness. The results from the Assessment are used to guide instruction and provide information about how a child is likely to perform on the next school year.
